Terry gave me some info on the negotiations yesterday. Apparently the ability of the City to be petty and vindictive knows no bounds. He said Glass was livid with the City at several points with respect to their inability to acknowledge any weakness. Josh apparently stated flat out that a long time staffer of his father now controls the BLM, and even if Milam wins the case, there will be no patent issued. This had the desired effect on Milam's lenders such that Milam really has no choice at this point.

So that is the status.
